A screenshot of a Gmail interface. The top bar shows the address bar with a long URL, the Gmail logo, and a search bar. On the left, there's a sidebar with navigation links: Compose, Inbox (3,301), Starred, Snoozed, Sent, Drafts (10), and More. Below these are labels. The main area displays an email from 'WordPress.com' with the subject 'Level up with our NEW WordPress webinars!'. The email content shows a blue header with the WordPress logo and a photo of a woman working at a desk. A context menu is open over the email, with a red arrow pointing to the 'Show original' option. The menu includes options like Reply, Forward, Filter messages like this, Print, Delete this message, Block 'WordPress.com', Report spam, Report phishing, Show original, Translate message, Download message, and Mark as unread.

This tool will make email headers human readable by parsing them according to RFC 822. Email headers are present on every email you receive via the Internet and can provide valuable diagnostic information like hop delays, anti-spam results and more. If you need help getting copies of your email headers, just read this tutorial.

Copy/Paste Warning

There is a known problem with copy/pasting headers from messages. Sometimes, this causes the format of the message to change and will cause DKIM to fail. Download the eml file, open it in a text editor and copy from there or use our Email Deliverability Tool. Please see our guide for using GSuite/Gmail headers
